INDEX.

VOL. I.

No.

Address, first, difficulty of the 1
——— practice of the epic poets in this particular 1
Advice, difficulty of giving, without offending 40
Affectation, vanity of indulging 20
——— wherein it differs from hypocrisy 20
Affliction, proper methods of obtaining consolation under 52
Allegory on criticism 3
Ambition natural to youth 15
Anger, a tumultuous and dangerous passion 11
——— pernicious effects of 11
Anthea, disagreeable character of 34
Argutio, character of 27
Author, case of one entering the world 1
——— the hopes of authors 2
——— nothing more mortifying to an author than neglect 2
——— the folly of endeavouring to acquire fame merely by writing 2
——— discouragements to which authors are exposed 2
——— his proper task 3
——— acquisition of fame difficult, and its possession precarious 23
——— the great difference between the same author accounted for 24
——— difference between an author's writings and conversation 14

Bacon, Lord, his reflection on beautiful women 38
Brevity, when necessary to an author 1
Bustle, Lady, her active life in the country 51

INDEX.

No.

Cards, folly of..... 15
Censure, fondness for, derived from an imagined superiority..... 2
——— when equitable and laudable..... 50
Characters in romance, should be morally good..... 4
Cleobulus, his maxim on the excellence of mediocrity 38
Cleora, letter from, on gaming..... 15
Complaints on the conduct of others, what principles will support our claims to..... 50
Confidence, inconveniences of..... 43
Consolation under afflictions, how obtained..... 52
——— when to be drawn from a view of the afflictions of others..... 52
——— its useful influence against the impressions of melancholy..... 52
Constitution, miseries of an infirm one..... 48
Conversation, rural, pleasures and distastes of.....42, 46
Cornelia, her account of Lady Bustle..... 51
Country housewife, employments of..... 51
Courtly, Mrs. character of..... 12
Cowardice, female, uneasiness and disgust of..... 34
Cowley, Mr. remarks on a passage in his writings..... 6
Critics, true, character of..... 3
——— the candid and the severe..... 23
Criticism, allegory on..... 3
——— the art of, regulated by fluctuating principles 23
——— genuine, the offspring of Labour and Truth 3

Death, instruction arising from the near view of it..... 54
——— due contemplation of, a proper method of suppressing fear..... 17
Dependence on great men, miseries attending it..... 26
Desires, excessive, restrained by the contemplation of death..... 17
Dorset, Earl, Charles Sackville, applauded as good-natured, though angry..... 11
Dryden, sometimes inattentive and inaccurate..... 31

Eminence, a proof of, in having many enemies as well as friends..... 10
Enterprize not to be repressed..... 25
Epic poem, proemial part of the..... 1
Epictetus on ardent wishes..... 2
——— on the influence of the fears of poverty and death..... 17

INDEX.

No.

Error, the aversion of most persons to be convinced of it 31
——— attempts to justify it, generally the effect of obstinacy or pride 31
Eubulus, a wit, the adventures of 26, 27
Euphelia, her rural amusements 42, 46
Euphemia, character of..... 12
Euphues, character of 24
Extravagance, mischief of..... 26

Faction, rural, mischiefs of..... 46
Failings, the detection of, too generally received with disgust..... 40
Fame, the love of, when irregular and dangerous..... 49
——— when laudable..... 49
——— the only recompence that mortals can bestow on virtue..... 49
Fear of death, distresses of the, obviated by the contemplation of death..... 17
Fiction, works of, wherein useful and defective..... .. 4
——— too frequently corrupt the mind of youth..... 4
Flirtilla, instructed on the subject of masquerades 10
Florentius, character of..... 18
Friend, the difficulty of finding a faithful one..... 28
Friendship, the firmest, too often dissolved by openness and sincerity..... 40
Furia, character of..... 18
Futurity, necessity and danger of looking into..... 2
——— anxiety about it censured..... 29

Gaming, its pernicious effects..... 15
Gelidus, character of 24
Genius, importance of consulting, in the choice of a station in life, doubted 19
God, reflections on his wisdom and goodness, a cure for the anguish of impatience..... 32
Grief, immoderate, assuaged by the contemplation of death 17

Hale, Sir Matthew, his concern for securing the reputation of virtue..... 14
Hamet, the Indian, moderation of his desires..... 38
Happiness, not local..... 6
——— chimerical wishes for, productive of great disappointment..... 5
——— when dependent on external circumstances, precarious and delusive 6

INDEX.

	No.
Health, the necessity of, to the duties and pleasures of life	48
——— the folly and wickedness of squandering it	48
——— anxious care of it in the valetudinarian, vain and ridiculous	48
——— disadvantages attending the loss of it	48
——— neglected by the votaries of business and pleasure	48
Hope, the influence of, on our resolutions and actions	2
——— of remote advantages, should be indulged with caution	2
——— frequently attended with discontent and impatience	5
Housewifery, description of	51
Hypocrisy, not always to be charged upon such as are zealous for virtues which they neglect to practise	14
——— wherein it differs from affectation	20
Ianthe, character of	18
Ignorance of ourselves, the source of most errors in human conduct	24
Industry necessary to acquire eminence in literature	25
Knowledge of ourselves, its great use and importance	24
——— necessary to preserve us from crimes as well as follies	28
——— promoted by scenes of adversity	23
——— consequences of the neglect of it	24
Labour and Rest, the parents of Health	33
Ladies, many of their indiscretions arise from ignorance of themselves	24
Learning, origin and excellency of	22
——— wherein it differs from wit	22
——— the mutual advantages of their being united	22
——— eminence in, not to be attained without labour	21
——— the possession of applause in, very precarious	21
Life, human, instinct and passion the first motives of action in	49
—— tediousness of, to some	5
—— the miseries incident to, designed for the exercise and improvement of virtue	32
—— often distressed by new desires and artificial passions	49
—— shortness and uncertainty of, should determine us to moderate our passions and contract our designs	17

XUM

INDEX.

No.

Life, country, busy scene of..... 51
Lofty, Lady, character of..... 12
Love, success in, most easily obtained by indirect approaches..... 1
Luxury, united with indolence, produces the worst effects..... 33

Mankind, diversified by various tastes..... 5
Manufactures, gradual improvement of..... 9
Marlborough, Sarah, Duchess of, her artifice..... 13
Marriage, general observations on..... 35
——— the dictate of nature and institution of Providence..... 18
——— sources of its infelicities..... 18, 39
——— why so many unsuitable marriages..... 45
——— contracts begun in fraud end in disappointment..... 45
——— afflictions incident to, how to be alleviated... 45
——— of prudence without affection..... 35
Masquerades, pernicious effects of..... 10
Mediocrity, essential to happiness as well as virtue..... 38
Melanthia, character of..... 39
Melissus, character of..... 18
Memory, peculiar exercise of..... 41
Mind, extensive powers of the..... 41
——— tranquillity of, whence derived..... 6
Misellus, his account of commencing author..... 10, 16
Misfortunes, folly of anticipating..... 29
Mistake, the defence of a known one highly culpable.. 31
Mitissa, her conduct in the married life..... 35
Morality, inquiries into, preferable to physical contemplations..... 24
——— the ancient poets very exceptionable teachers of..... 29
Mortality, due consideration of, promotes happiness..... 17

Nature, study of the works of, useful, and multiplies the inlets to happiness..... 5

Old age, the best pleasures of, drawn from the review of a virtuous life..... 41
——— by what means it becomes entitled to veneration..... 50
——— the peculiar vices of..... 50

Papers, periodical, convenience of..... 1

No.

Passions, our, offensive to others 11
——— natural and adscititious, strong motives to action 49
Patience, useful to alleviate the miseries of life 32
——— motives to the exercise of 32
Periander, his opinion of the importance of restraining anger 11
Periodical papers, convenience of 1
Perseverance, excellence of 43
Persians, their contempt for men who violated secrecy. 13
Philotryphus, character of 39
Pleasures, sensitive and animal, whence their agreeableness 44
——— immoral, corrupt the mind 44
Poetry, pastoral, the beauties of, and difficulty of succeeding in 36
——— mere nature to be principally regarded in 37
——— the perfection of, wherein it consists 37
Poets, ancient, exceptionable teachers of morality 29
Polyphilus, character of 19
Pontanus, Scaliger's remarks on 4
——— instructive inscription on the tomb of 28
Poverty, afflictive scenes of, described 53
——— effects of the fear of 53
——— the consequence of negligence and profusion .. 53
——— disappointments attendant on 27
Precipitation, often fatal to great designs 43
Presumption, more easily corrected than pusillanimity 25
Pride, anger generally derived from 11
Prodigality, destitute of true pleasure, and the source of real and lasting misery 53
Profession, every man fond of his own 9
Prosapius, character of 18
Prudentius, the motives on which he contracted marriage 18

Raschid, character of, an example of the fatal effects of avarice 38
Rashness preferable to cowardice 25
Reason, importance of its guarding the imagination 8
Religion, origin and excellency of 44
——— source of the noblest and most refined pleasures 44
——— the common objections to a life of, groundless and unreasonable 44
Rest and labour, allegorical history of 33

INDEX.

No.

Retirement natural to a great mind 7
——— religious use of..... 7
——— disadvantages of, when indulged to excess by men of letters 14
Retrospection of our conduct, importance of..... 8
Rich, the, miserable for want of employment..... 6
Romances, modern form of, preferable to the ancient... 4
——— general design of..... 4

Sanderson, Bishop, his scrupulosity in preparing his lectures..... 19
Sannazarius, his inducements to the piscatory eclogue.. 36
Scandal, the ladies' disposition to, too frequent..... 46
Secrecy, essay on..... 13
Self-knowledge, its importance..... 24
——— a preservative against indiscretion and vice..... 28
Sex, female, some infelicities peculiar to it 39
Solitude, a relish for, an argument of a good disposition 5
——— disgustful to many 5
Sorrow, the indulgence of, destroys the pleasures of contemplation..... 5
——— cautions against..... 47
——— the experience of it an antidote to vanity..... 6
Spendthrift, folly and misery of a..... 53
Spring, meditation on..... 5
Standish, Mrs. character of..... 12
Stoics, their erroneous system concerning evil..... 32
Sunday, different methods of employing..... 30
——— the true method recommended..... 30
Superstition, a disposition to, irrational 44

Thoughts, to be brought under regulation..... 8
Turenne, Marshall, on the importance of correcting our mistakes..... 32

Vagario, character of..... 27
Valdesso, his remark upon resigning his commission.... 28
Vanity of authors..... 16
Vice, how to be represented in romances..... 4
Virgil, in what respects superior in pastoral poetry 37
——— on the versification of..... 37
Virtue, how to be represented in romances..... 4
——— the error of substituting single acts of, for habits 28
——— obstructed by confounding the praise with the practice of goodness..... 28

INDEX.

	No.
Virtue, difference between speculative and practical	14
Walk, few men know how to take a	5
Wit, origin of	22
—— wherein it differs from learning	22
—— union of learning and	22
Woman of quality, miserable in solitude	42
Women, some infelicities peculiar to	39
Writers, naturally sanguine	2
——— liable to disappointment	2
Writing, periodical, convenience of	1
Youth, ornaments of	10
——— too easily ensnared by early immersion in pleasure	42
——— profuseness and extravagance of	26
Zephyretta, character of	18
Zosima, the insults she endured in applying for a service	12

C. WHITTINGHAM, Printer,
Goswell-Street.

End

XUM